Syllabus

This course brings together design, animation and production skills in a small studio-like environment where students will learn design practices, production methods and studio-based workflow. Students will work in pairs in their preferred media to design, implement and deliver portfolio-ready, micro-short animations on time and on budget.

Objectives:

After successful completion of this course, the student will be able to:

1. Perform individual duties to meet the demands of an extended collaborative, studio-based production.
2. Prioritize tasks, estimate time commitments and plan complex production steps according to pre-established production milestones.
3. Propose and execute creative solutions to unique production challenges as they arise within their particular area of responsibility.
4. Utilize project management skills while creating within a prescribed client/artist relationship.

Software: Students will work in a team collaborating in assigned roles and chosen media.

Production Schedule, Milestones and Lab Time:

Each project will be subject to its production schedule. While dates will change through the semester to accommodate production needs, Teams will be expected to meet major milestones such as the mid-semester presentation and the final production deadline.

Teams are expected to present progress during weekly check-ins and utilize class time when not presenting to further production.

Weekly Progress should be posted on the 422 Discord channel. Classmates are encouraged provide constructive comments as work is submitted. Instructors will be providing feedback on a regular basis.

Attendance:

Whether via remote web-ex or face to face, regular tardiness is not acceptable. Please notify me in advance for excused absences. Unexcused absences and excessive tardiness will have a negative impact your grade. Four missed classes will result in the drop of a single letter grade.

Grades: Semester Total 1500 pts

Project grades will be weighed by the quality and timeliness of production goals, professional interaction with team-mates, and input from Partner Evaluation forms.

Official CMU Face Covering and Social Distancing Policy

Face coverings, such as masks, and social distancing (6 feet apart) are required in all buildings and classrooms (CMU's policy on face coverings). Students who have forgotten their face coverings may obtain a disposable mask from one of the 40 vending areas on campus. Vending machine locations are available on the Fired Up for Fall website.

The evidence is clear that face coverings are a crucial part of keeping coronavirus at bay and support the university's commitment to providing all members of its community with a safe, healthy, caring, and supportive environment. Masks should cover the entire nose and mouth, per guidelines from the Centers for Disease Control (<https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/prevent-getting-sick/how-to-wear-cloth-face-coverings.html>). Students whose unique and individual circumstances require an alternative face covering, as indicated by a medical condition may request one. To request an alternative, students should contact Student Disability Services \(SDS\).

Refusing to wear a mask in any building or classroom without an accommodation letter from Student Disability Services is a violation of university regulations (section 3.2.31 of the Student Code of Conduct) and exposes the student to possible sanction for not adhering to university regulations. Refusing to maintain social distancing guidelines also violates the same university regulations. Students not adhering to the policy on face coverings or social distancing will be asked to leave the classroom and the building. In addition, faculty and/or staff may file a report with the Office of Student Conduct.
